DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to communication: RCE, filed on 05/13/05.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 1-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hall et al., US# 6,138,199, in view of Lederer, JR. et al., US# 2002/0023109 A1, and further in view of Clayton et al., US# 2005/0149452 A1.

As per claims 1-2, Hall et al. teaches "editing said gathered compliance data to include organizational data and formatting a portion of said compliance data to create modified compliance data" (see col. 5, lines 32-54, whereas Hall's "rights management" reads applicant's "compliance data") "storing said modified compliance data within data . . . classification scheme relating to compliance data . . ." (see col. 7, lines 4-40) "transferring said modified compliance data from said database . . ." (see col. 18, lines 16-44). Hall et al. does not teach "said compliance data comprising at least one requirement for complying with at least one of standards, regulations and laws." Lederer et al. teaches "said compliance data comprising at least one requirement for complying with at least one of standards, regulations and laws" (see page 3, lines [0041]-[0042]). It would have been obvious at the time of the invention for one of ordinary skill in the art to have combined the teachings of Lederer and Hall, because using the steps of “said compliance data comprising at least one requirement for complying with at least one of standards, regulations and laws” would have given those skilled in the art the tools to set specific standards for the use in describing data that must abide by data rules. This give users the advantage of maintaining the integrity level of transferred data in a network environment more efficiently. Hall et al. does not explicitly teach “wherein said at least one requirement for complying with at least one standards, regulations and laws does not control or manage access to said compliance data.” Clayton et al. teaches “wherein said at least one requirement for complying with at least one standards, regulations and laws does not control or manage access to said compliance data” (see abstract and see paragraph [0012]). It would have been obvious at the time of the invention for one ordinary skill in the art to have combined the teachings of Clayton with Hall and Lederer above because using the steps of “wherein said at least one requirement for complying with at least one of standards, regulations and laws does not control or manage access to said compliance data” would have given those skilled in the art the ability to apply requirement data in conjunction with complying elements in regards to the accessing of data. This give users advantage of managing the access of sensitive data more efficiently.

As per claims 3-5, Hall et al. teaches “compliance data . . . user’s preference . . .” (see col. 16-54).

As per claim 6, Hall et al. teaches “monitors user traffic . . .” (see col. 9, lines 39-64).

As per claim 7, Hall et al. teaches “displaying said modified compliance data . . .” (see col. 7, lines 5-24).

As per claim 8, Hall et al. teaches “Government standards . . .” (see col. 4, lines 47-58).

As per claims 9-11, Hall et al. teaches “wherein said database is publicly inaccessible and password . . .” (see col. 4, lines 57-67).

As per claim 12, Hall et al. teaches “uploading compliance data from a remote communication device” (see col. 18, lines 10-43).

As per claims 13-19, these claims are rejected on grounds corresponding to the arguments given above for rejected claims 1-12 and are similarly rejected.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments filed 5/13/05 have been fully considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.

Conclusion

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
